

Southern Alberta
Professional Development
Consortium

Teaching and Learning from Indigenous Insights and Understandings

PRESENTED BY

Dr. Dwayne Donald

SERIES SESSIONS

Date	Time
April 01, 2019	9:00 AM - 3:00 PM

LOCATION

Lethbridge Library - Theatre Gallery - 810
5 Ave South

FEE

$30.00

QUESTIONS?

Contact Us:

403-381-5580

REGISTER ONLINE

Visit our website to register:

sapdc.ca

Program

This session will focus on key considerations that come with teachers making a shift from teaching and learning 'about' the experiences and memories of Indigenous peoples to teaching and learning from' Indigenous insights and understandings. Particular attention will be given to the concept of ethical relationality and Treaty teachings.

Dr. Donald has worked and studied in Southern Alberta. SAPDC is excited to support this learning opportunity for our region, this will assist teachers and system leaders in helping all of us and our students better understand Indigenous insights and ways of teaching and learning.

Presenters

Dr. Dwayne Donald

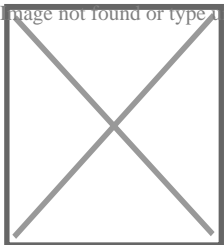

Dr. Dwayne Donald is a descendent of the amiskwaciwiyniwak (Beaver Hills people) and the Papaschase Cree and is an associate professor in the Faculty of Education at the University of Alberta. His work focuses on ways in which Indigenous philosophies can expand and enhance our understandings of curriculum and pedagogy.

Registration Notes

Lunch and refreshments are included

Note: This session is made possible through the Education For Reconciliation Grant

Image not found or type unknown

Southern Alberta
Professional Development
Consortium