Presenters

Dr. Dianne McConnell

Dianne began her career as a teacher with the Parkland School Division. She has completed her PhD in Special Education and is also a registered psychologist. She has worked as a Vision Consultant (Teacher for the Visually Impaired), Director of Student Services at multiple school divisions, led the Alberta Provincial initiative for inclusion (Setting the Direction) and has been the Associate Superintendent with Parkland School Division over the past eight years. While her list of career accomplishments is indeed extensive, perhaps more important has been her role as a parent. She is also the mother of three children, two of which have complex health conditions, including vision loss. She has been involved in advocacy in the field of Blindness and Visual Impairment at both the provincial and national levels for over 30 years. Dianne brings a unique perspective to this subject matter. Through her experience as an educator and a parent of children with severe disabilities, she is well-versed on the ongoing challenges families and practitioners face in dealing with complex situations. She has worked as a service provider and has also been the benefactor of service provision. She has been a dedicated advocate throughout her career and is passionate about making a difference for children and their families.

Roy McConnell

Roy has recently retired from a rewarding career as an educator. He began his teaching career in Parkland and worked there as a teacher, administrator and coach. Roy loved working with students and was very active as a coach in every sport. He is best known for his love of the outdoors and for many years shared his love of the outdoors through his expedition club. After his sons were born and his youngest lost his sight at the age of three, Roy went back to university to acquire his Master's degree, specializing as a teacher of the visually impaired. He worked for a number of years as a role model for supporting students with diverse needs in the education environment. Roy spent the last years of his career working with Alberta Education, leading the provincial low incidence team.
